Probe of Grady Hospital Ordered by Council

ALDERMAN HUNTER
NAMED CHAIRMAN
OF INVESTIGATORS

Councilman Gordon Objects to Step on Grounds That Recent Inquiries 'Accomplished Nothing.'

FIRST MEETING WILL BE HELD THIS WEEK

Effort to Shift Responsibility for Alleged Negligence to Police Department Charged.

By the vote of 12 to 9, city council Monday afternoon ordered a complete probe into the management of Grady hospital, and authorized a special investigating committee of five members.

The resolution demanding full inquiry was introduced by Alderman Hunter, chairman of the committee. It was based on charges by C. A. Schultz, of 150 Jett street, whose wife died at Grady hospital last Monday, that she lay dead for thirteen hours before she was notified, and in the meantime an attack on duty at the hospital answered a member of his family inquiring about her condition that she was "doing nicely."

These charges were contained in an affidavit signed by Mr. Schultz and attached to the resolution. The affidavit also set forth complaints members of his family were treated discourteously when they called at the hospital after learning of Mrs. Schultz's death.

Committee Is Named.
Members of the probe committee, which was named by Mayor Pro Tem Cochran, are Alderman Hunter, chairman; Alderman I. N. Ragdale, Councilman W. M. Etheridge, Councilman J. C. Murphy and Councilman W. C. Jenkins.

The committee is empowered to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and compel the production of records books and other documentary evidence.

Alderman Hunter announced after council adjourned that the first session of the committee would be held this week, but he wished to confer with members before fixing the date.

In a speech to the council, Dr. Etheridge said he wanted the public to understand that he had no personal grievance against Superintendent Steve R. Johnson or any employee of Grady, but he said no harm could come of an investigation to get at the truth of the alleged occurrences.

Position of Council.
Councilman J. A. Couch, also of the fifth ward, said: "One of the ladies of our community went to Grady hospital and died there. It's very unfortunate her relatives were not notified. Somebody's at fault. There's been an effort to shift the responsibility to the police department. The patients are carried to Grady, not to police headquarters, and they should be looked after by Grady."

Councilman R. A. Gordon objected to an inquiry, asserting that council has conducted about eight or ten in the past few months, and they had been productive of nothing.

General Pershing
To Pay Atlanta
Brief Visit Today

BY W. C. WOODALL.

Columbus, Ga., March 6.—(Special.) Unless the heavy rain, which has been storming Columbus all the afternoon and night, washes away the Southern railway tracks here, General John J. Pershing, who has been making an inspection of Camp Benning, will arrive in Atlanta about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, and then proceed on his way to Washington.

In the future when it is announced that the general is coming to Columbus, the merchants will order extra supplies of umbrellas, raincoats and

Subscriptions amounting to $35,720, which is more than one-third of the quota of Atlanta in the Jewish Relief campaign, were announced at the mass meeting held Monday night at the Temple, which officially opened the campaign in Atlanta.

Tuesday the campaign organizations were scheduled to begin work in earnest, and Arthur Harris, chairman of the Atlanta campaign, declared that he is confident that the remainder of the fund to be subscribed in Atlanta will be in hand in a few days.

Armand May, chairman of the state drive, declared that the total so far reported from the state outside of Atlanta exceeds forty thousand dollars, and that by no means complete returns are in, because of the fact that many of the larger cities are waiting until the quota shall have been secured before making any report.

Next Again Wednesday.

The next report, which will be made in the Atlanta campaign will be when the workers assemble at luncheon in the grill room of the Piedmont hotel Wednesday at 1 o'clock to report on their first day's work.

Not one cent of the expenses of the national campaign will be taken out of the funds subscribed, according to an announcement made at the meeting Monday night. David A. Brown, of Detroit, national chairman for the campaign, has underwritten all of the campaign expenses, it was announced, in order that every cent which is subscribed may be applied to the actual relief work of the committee.

'VICIOUS ATTACKS'
CHARGED BY FALL,
NAMING PINCHOT

Secretary of Interior, in Published Letter, Complains of Alleged "Propaganda Press."

SAYS ALASKAN VIEWS
ENRAGED PINCHOT

Has Taken Matter Up
With President—Says
Opponents Are "Biased Government Officials."

Washington, March 6.—Secretary Fall, in a letter which has just been made public, reveals some of the "vicious attacks" about which he complained.

The letter was written to a member of congress, and describes what he said has been the propaganda leveled against him by those with whom he differed.

Fall tells what he thinks was responsible for an article entitled "Conservation and Fallism," to which his attention was called—the use of the word "lumberman" in an interview advocating that natural resources should be made easy of access.

Names Pinchot.
This influenced the article in belief, Fall wrote, and he believes "prompted many of the vicious attacks that have been going the rounds of the propaganda press, and also the charges that have been made in personal communications from Gifford Pinchot and others concerning myself and my policy of 'wheeling the forest reserves.'"

Fall told how his position on legislation relating to Alaska "brought down on my head the wrath of Mr. Gifford Pinchot and his followers," and how a sheet circulating him, purporting to be issued by the American Forestry association, was circulated. It was this sheet that contained an interview with Colonel Greeley, chief of the forest service.

The sheet was "responsible," Fall wrote, for the matter's reference to the president.

Propaganda Continued.
"I was urged (by subordinates) to take the matter up directly with the president and to call his attention to the impropriety, to say the least, of such practice," wrote Fall.

Not content with such ridiculous and plainly vicious attacks, propaganda has been continued, resulting in articles appearing in various magazines, Sunday editions, etc.

I understand perfectly well," Fall continued, "that my ideas as to the development of our natural resources and making them accessible to our returned soldiers and other citizens, do not meet with the approval of certain narrow-minded and biased government officials and their sponsors."

But Fall said he was proud to be a follower of Lincoln, whose views on the development of resources by veterans he quoted.

VIADUCT ENGINEER

Council Ratifies Agreement to Employ Harrington, Howard & Ash and Robert & Company.

Without a dissenting vote, city council Monday afternoon adopted the report of its conference committee recommending that Harrington, Howard & Ash, of Kansas City, and L. W. Robert & Co., of Atlanta, be employed to associate jointly in supervising erection of the Spring street viaduct.

Councilman Claude Ashley, chairman of the committee, who had been the leading foe of the Kansas City firm, which the bond commission had recommended for the job alone, declared that he had no further opposition to offer, and is perfectly satisfied, now that an Atlanta firm, recognized for its ability, had been associated on the work.

The conference committee of council met a similar body from the bond commission, after council had rejected the recommendation of the commission, and together they discussed the disagreement over a viaduct engineer and reached a compromise by adding the Atlanta concern to help build the structure.

Actual construction will begin without delay, and is expected to start by April 1.

'Gump' Problem

The recent visit to Atlanta of the Andy Gump tribe with "Uncle Bin" Gump as the feature attraction, has stirred the interest of an active and prominent Shriner of New York, S. H. Swint, who has written two letters to Noble George E. Argard, recorder of Yasrab temple, asking the recorder to use his influence in getting a satisfactory solution of the Gump matrimonial problem before springtime. Mr. Swint writes that he occupies much the same position as "Uncle Bin" and intimates that he could get to Atlanta and back in the smiles of Georgia girls even his

J. L. Brannan Charged by

The name of "Gordon" has magic in it for Atlanta. On the capital grounds an equestrian statue of a gallant soldier and profound statesman bears the name in large block letters. It is rumored about that square-faced bottles bearing the same nomenclature and containing a colorless fluid of rare potentialities is bought ever and anon by the best citizenry at prices that are usually paid for precious gems and works of art.

And now once more the name Gordon leaps into prominence because a possessor of that proud nomenclature disappears with all the celerity, suddenness, and certainty of the pretty girl in evening clothes placed securely in the black box of a magician at one of the vaudeville houses.

Anyhow, the disappearance of a Gordon brought to an abrupt close the hearing of testimony concerning alleged prejudice of jurors in the petition of Frank B. DuPre, Peachtree handit, for a rehearing.

Gordon's Affidavit.
The Gordon, in question, is Joseph G. He has made an affidavit to the effect that Juror Howell had made remarks previous to his being empaneled on the DuPre jury, indicative of the fact that he had a preconceived

Youth Sells Self for Year
To Guard Muscle Shoals

Perkins' Services Are Secured by Ford Committee

From a position of abject poverty to official representative of the Atlanta committee for the endorsement of Henry Ford's bid for the Muscle Shoals project in 24 hours is the remarkable achievement of John S. Perkins, 17-year-old former service man, whose offer to sell himself to the highest bidder for a one-year period was told in an article appearing in The Constitution Monday.

The pendulum of good fortune in this comparatively short time swung from one extreme to the other, bestowing upon young Perkins the golden opportunity for fame and riches, in typical Horatio Alger style.

With one touch of this magic wand Perkins suddenly became a guardian of the tremendous Muscle Shoals plant as an agent of the people in Atlanta who are in favor of leasing of the project to Ford.

Perkins, it was stated by members of the committee Monday, will leave Tuesday for Muscle Shoals, where he is to guard the interests of the people of the United States, who are owners of the property. He will post himself in a conspicuous position near the property, observe the daily visitors from all sections of the country, endeavor to protect it from unscrupu-Furthering the bond issue program, city council Monday afternoon adopted the recommendation of the bond commission requesting purchase of a twenty-acre tract facing Piedmont park as the site for the boys' senior high school; approved the bond of education's contract with A. Ten Eyck Brown as supervising architect over erection of the new schools, and confirmed the sale of $2,800,000 of bonds to the Atlanta National bank.

The location for the boys' high school was offered to the city for $75,000, and bond commission and council members agreed alike that the site is ideal and the price reasonable.

An important measure passed by council was attacked and defeated at the aldermanic board session following, and another was fought and held until the next meeting.

The measure turned down called for sale of the Boulevard school building and site to Morris Brown university, negro institution, for the sum of $60,000. The resolution delayed authorized purchase by the city of additional land adjoining the contagious diseases hospital for the purpose of building to expand its facilities.

Fights Boulevard Sale.
Alderman J. L. Carpenter opposed the proposed Boulevard sale, declaring that the property was selling too cheap. He also fought the hospital purchase, asserting that owners of the lots were asking too much money. He was joined in this opinion by Alderman Harry Goodhart. By majority vote the committee concurred in the measure, but Mr. Goodhart served notice of reconsideration at the next meeting.

There was no opposition to defeat of the Boulevard school resolution. The city had planned to buy three lots aggregating in size 150 by 200 feet and in price $11,200 for expansion of the contagious diseases hospital. It is located near the proposed municipal market site, and this fact was mentioned at the session.

All other councilmanic papers with the exception of a resolution to accept the Pacific Fuel Tank company's bid for installation of ejectors in the Ansley Park sewer station, and a measure to reduce peddler's license tax from $144 to $60 a year, were concurred in. The peddler resolution was not turned down outright.

SUICIDE VERDICT

Miss Lucile Quinn Tells

Inquest Being Held in Hospital Room.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury Monday evening after a thorough investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of James Archibald Patch, 27 years old, of 129 Windsor street, which occurred late Saturday night at the corner of Hoderness and Oak streets.

The verdict was reached after Miss Lucile Quinn, 19, of 182 Hoderness street, companion of Patch on the night of the shooting, had related to the members of the jury meeting at the Davis-Fischer sanitarium the details of the occurrence on Saturday night and of their acquaintance which began some five years ago.

The funeral services for Patch were held from the residence at 129 Windsor street Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and were attended by a large crowd. Miss Quinn, who was shot in the right arm by Patch before he shot himself through the heart, was resting easy at the sanitarium Monday, but physicians found it necessary to remove part of the bone, as it was shattered by the bullet. It will be some months before Miss Quinn will

Washington, March 6.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—When the full house ways and means committee began today a consideration of the new insurance bonus bill framed by the subcommittee of republicans, the members found their desks literally deluged with letters, telegrams and petitions in opposition to the proposed substitute for the original cash bonus plan. They came first of all from treasury officials in Washington, but in bulk from bankers, business men, farmers and from hundreds of ex-service men.

It was noticeable that a great proportion of the protests came from the agricultural states of the south and middle west.

An abstract of the protests developed that the opinion generally prevails that the new plan will in the end work a greater disaster than the placing of a direct tax upon the people. The consensus of opinions might be summed up in the fear that if the banking system should become crippled the new plan would have the banks so loaded with frozen assets by 1928 that even the federal reserve system would have added upon it, in spite of every legal avenue of escape, a round $200,000,000 of collaterals not now acceptable under the law, with that menacing situation necessarily hampering general

Colonel Simmons Will Be

Intimation by counsel for the insurgent and deposed goblins of the Ku Klux Klan that Colonel William J. Simmons, imperial wizard and head of the order, had attempted to evade service in the petition for a receivership now being heard in Fulton county superior court was vigorously refuted by George Westmoreland, leading counsel for the Klan, before Judge George L. Bell yesterday afternoon.

"As soon as there is any necessity for Colonel Simmons to be in court," declared Mr. Westmoreland, "he will be here. There can be no necessity for his presence until the evidence is taken—that is if the court holds that there is sufficient merit to this petition to go into the evidence."

"Conceded for the plaintiff maintains that he was unable to get Colonel Simmons to sign a certain affidavit in this case, that Colonel Simmons refused to make the affidavit after it was presented for his signature, Colonel Simmons certainly had that right. He might have known that every single statement in that prepared affidavit is false. In that case he would naturally refuse to sign it."

Hiding Out Denied.

"But as far as any hiding out of the head of this order is concerned—that is absurd. He will be here, ready to testify when he is called."

Judge Bell adjourned the Ku klux hearing during the heat of the arguments of opposing counsel on the motion of attorneys for the Klan to dismiss the petition. The arguments will be resumed at 2 o'clock this morning.

TAXI DRIVER KILLED IN AUTO-CAR CRASH

Accident Occurs When
H. O. Phillips Attempts to Pass Large Truck
Monday.

Two deaths resulted Monday from automobile accidents, which occurred in or near the city. Lucile Lanier, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Lanier, Sr., was run down and fatally injured by a roadster automobile as she was crossing the street in front of her home on the Marietta road at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The second death from automobile accidents occurred when H. O. Phillips, taxicab driver, of 21 West Peachtree street, drove an automobile of the Excelsior Taxicab company headlong into a trolley car. He was killed instantly.

The man who struck the little Lanier girl got out of his car and tendered his car to her relatives, according to a statement made by members of the family. Because the car of the unidentified man was only a two-passenger vehicle, Mr. Lanier, father of the girl, put his daughter in his car and drove her to the Grady hospital, where she died at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

No Report Received.
It is said that the driver of the car stated that he was going to report the accident to the county police, but, according to Lieutenant Carroll, he has not been heard of since.

Relatives of the Lanier girl do not attach any blame to the driver of the car, as witnesses stated the girl ran in front of the car, which was traveling at a moderate rate of speed. Lieutenant Carroll and members of the county police force will attempt to locate the driver.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body was taken to Harry G. Poole's undertaking establishment.

Taxicab Driver Killed.
Driving his taxicab headlong into a trolley car at Peachtree and Currier street, H. O. Phillips, aged 24, of 21 West Peachtree street, a driver for the Excelsior Taxi company, was instantly killed at 3:15 o'clock Monday afternoon.

J. H. Hendrix, of 161 Butler street, motorman of the street car in the fatal crash, stated that Phillips was driving on the wrong side of the street when the collision occurred. Other witnesses substantiated his explanation of the accident.

Phillips was driving north on Peachtree street. Near Currier street he attempted to pass a large express truck, and in trying to do so, drove to the left side of the street. It is said, meeting the trolley car head-on. He apparently tried to jump from the machine when the automobile struck the car, as his body was hanging from the machine after the accident.

Phillips had been a close friend of the conductor, B. E. Calhoun, for some time, having known him in Savannah before moving to Atlanta. He was a brother of G. O. Phillips, the Decatur time conductor who was seriously injured several weeks ago while on duty, when a negro shot him.

Phillips is a former street car conductor, but recently he was in the idea that DuPre should be hanged for his crime.

Attorney H. A. Allen, counsel for DuPre, told Judge John D. Humphries, conducting the hearing, Gordon had made the affidavit and had promised to be in court last Friday to take the stand. He had suddenly disappeared then. "He was in my office not an hour ago," said Mr. Allen, "and had been properly subpoenaed and told me he would appear here, but it seems that he has disappeared again. I therefore withdraw his affidavit."

"But I want him in court," insisted Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.
"Let an attachment issue for him," ordered Judge Humphries. "Find him and hold him until I return here," he ordered.

The commission was turned over to Deputy Gordon Hardy on the probable theory that it takes a Gordon to catch a Gordon.

Richards on Stand.
Previous to the Gordon incident, E.
J. Richards, who had made an affidavit as to having heard Juror Howell express prejudice, was called to the stand. Solicitor Boykin's cross-examination was evidently directed at proving that all the affidavits had been obtained by one evidence collector, who had not been particular about their accuracy.

A fourth juror was brought under fire when C. S. Park, of Smyrna, testified that Juror J. J. Brannan had told him previous to the trial that he thought DuPre should be hanged.
He expressed doubts if a jury could be found to return the death penalty.

The hearing adjourned after Attorney Allen had heard Juror Howell cross-examine any jurors that might make affidavits to be produced by the solicitor-general.

The next step in the DuPre case will be the hearing of the motion for a new trial by Judge H. A. Matthews
at Macon Saturday.

WITNESS AT INQUEST

MISS LUCILE QUINN.

SUICIDE VERDICT IN PATCH CASE

have full use of the injured arm, it was announced.

Young Woman Testifies.

The inquest was opened at the understanding establishment, but was concluded at the hospital, where members of the jury were taken to hear the testimony of Miss Quinn, the most important witness in the case.
Miss Quinn told the members of the jury as she lay in her room at the sanitarium the details of the shooting as she remembered them, and when she was asked in an appealing tone:
"Don't you reckon it was an accident,
as I am sure he did not mean to shoot me?" All during her story she seemed to be in a state of mind that she had no intention of shooting her.

"I met Mr. Patch about five years ago," began Miss Quinn, "but I did not know him very well until about a year ago, when he returned to the railroad office to work."

"He had asked me to marry him
several times but I always told him
I did not care for him in that way and he said I could not see him any more if I ever married any one else, but later told me he was joking. He had not discussed matrimony for several days prior to the shooting. We went to the Grand theater and bought tickets, but as there was a long line waiting to go in, Mr. Patch decided that he would rather go to a movie show."

"After we had started home he asked me to take the wheel, which I did reluctantly, as I am not a very good driver. He told me he was feeling badly and did not want to drive."

"When we were within a few blocks of my housing sensation, a sensation in my right arm and heard what I thought at the time to be a blow out and a few minutes later I heard a noise which I took to be a pistol shot."

"Mr. Patch fell against me and I stopped the car and jumped out and soon as I could I did not see the pistol and had no intimation that he intended to do anything like he did."

"I ran into my house, after some people had come to look after Mr.
Patch, where I was given medical aid by Dr. Ward. I was just as well as I could be at the time, but were my friends, as he never once hinted that he felt desperate in connection with his affection toward me."

Miss Quinn emphatically denied the statements made by William Thomas Owens, of 120 Highland view, who said that he heard a young lady in the car cry out: "Don't do that! Don't do that!" He testified before the inquest that he heard the cry between the firing of the first and second shots.

At the conclusion of Miss Quinn's statement she was questioned by Coroner Allen having heard Juror Howell cross-examine any jurors that might
make affidavits to be produced by the solicitor-general.

The next step in the DuPre case
will be the hearing of the motion for a new trial by Judge H. A. Matthews
at Macon Saturday.

COUNCIL APPROVES PURCHASE OF SITE

but was laid on the table for investigation.
The council session was enlivened with a hot surprise contest for police commissioner from the second ward.
No candidate to oppose W. R. Freeman, the incumbent, had been publicly mentioned and it had been predicted that he would be re-elected without opposition.

As it developed, however, W. A.
Gresham, well-known second ward citizen, was nominated to succeed him.
Brief but warm speeches were made,
and the race resulted in the vote of 18 to 11 in Commissioner Freeman's favor.

Two of the ward delegation had agreed on the nomination of Mr. Freeman. Councilman P. L. Moon, the third member, parted company with his colleagues and seconded the nomination of Mr. Gresham, but when the ballot was taken, voted for Mr. Freeman.

Mr. Gresham was nominated by Alderman Foster L. Hunter.
John S. McCallister, police commissioner from the third ward, submitted his resignation at the meeting, stating that the increasing pressure of his law practice prevented him from serving further. His resignation was accepted.

Accept Clayton's Bid.
The park board's recommendation that the bid of George A. Clayton to finish the cyclorama building at Grant park, was accepted. Mr. Clayton's bid of $30,333 was low in comparison with five other contractors.
The bid of Wood & Bucker Construction company to construct extensions to the bath-house at Grant park, the bid of J. E. D. D. D. D. D.
Son to build extensions at Oakland city bath-house, were approved. The Grant park improvement will cost $3-
700 and the additions at Oakland city
$2,243.

A conference committee, appointed to make recommendations on the truck purchase controversy that arose several weeks ago, recommended that five Federal trucks be bought, and council acted accordingly. At its last meeting council authorized the purchase of five Federal trucks but the aldermanic board non-concurred.

The five Federal trucks will cost approximately $16,000.

Council confirmed the street committee's award of the Marietta-Decatur street paving contract to the Mc-Dougal Construction company. This thoroughfare will be paved from Jones avenue on Marietta street, to Yonge street, on Decatur, a distance of about one and one-fourth miles. Council also adopted a resolution to withdraw the street from Decatur to Foundry.

Mayor's Salary Raised.
By unanimous vote, council adopted a resolution to increase the salary of City Attorney James L. Mayson from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. Councilman Claude Anderson, who introduced the measure, pointed out the string of important victories which Mr. Mayson has won in behalf of Atlanta, and declared that he saved the city enough in actual money last year to pay a $5,000 salary twenty times over. The aldermanic board concurred.

Councilman Fred C. Woodall was the author of a resolution which council adopted requiring the Southern railroad to install safety gates at its McDonough road grade crossing on its line.

A resolution introduced requesting council to appropriate in a lump sum to the board of education its commission quota of $40,000, to be spent with concurrence of the bond commission, was laid on the table to be taken up at the next meeting.

JAZZ AND DANCE HALLS DENOUNCED

have been settled finally in the courts.
In denouncing the dance halls,
Judge Humphries said a wholesome effect would be obtained if all public dance halls were closed.

To stamp out the public dance hall in our city would mean a wholesome effect would be obtained if all public
dance halls were closed.

"Scandalous girls and half-dressed boys go through antics which are repulsive to the finer sensibilities of good men and women."

Attacks Poolrooms.

As to pool rooms, Judge Humphries said they are "hotbeds of potential crime." He said they should be banished because many criminal plots are worked out in pool rooms.

The pool room is degrading the youth of this community, and if abolished the moral fiber of this community would be strengthened. I can not point out specific places, as I have not gone that far in the matter; but from evidence given me in cases before me I find that many criminal schemes are hatched in pool rooms," the judge said.

Many motion pictures are wonderful creations and serve educationally, but there are some pictures which should not be allowed on the screen.
Judge Humphries charged. He said pictures reeking with vice and outlawry should be barred. He said a number of civic organizations are making earnest efforts to clean up pictures shown in Atlanta by careful censorship and he said these efforts deserve success.

Jury Service.

Referring to the duty of every citizen to serve on the jury when called, Judge Humphries declared that many of wealth evade this duty. He pointed out that there is a certain military organization in Atlanta which people can join for a fee of $25 and can then be exempt from jury service. He expressed the opinion that the law exempting men from jury service for this reason was unconstitutional. He declared that part of wealth will evade jury duty while men who work hard for a living will have to serve on the

TRIAL OF GOVERNOR DELAYED FOR MONTH

Waukegan, Ill., March 6.—(By the Associated Press).—The trial of Governor Len Small on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds was postponed today until April 3.

The governor asked sixty days' delay on the ground that his presence here would interfere with letting of spring road building contracts. Judge Edwards granted thirty days' delay on the understanding that no more delay would be asked.

Arguments for and against the governor's motion for a continuance were featured by an extensive discussion of the state road building program, the price of concrete, the ability of state department heads to carry on in the governor's absence and thinly veiled accusations from James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney-general of Illinois,
that the defense was seeking to postpone the case until after the April primaries.

SEVEN CENT DUTY ON LONG STAPLE COTTON PLANNED

Washington, March 6.—An import duty of seven cents a pound on long staple cotton the figure in the emergency tariff law—is understood to have been agreed upon today by republican members of the senate finance committee who are rewriting the Foney tariff bill. Some committeemen were said to have insisted upon a rate of ten cents and to have given notice that they would carry their fight to the senate floor.

In presenting their program for duties on farm products, senators of the republican farm tariff bloc asked for a rate of fifteen cents a pound and their support in the senate is being counted upon by committee proponents of the duty of ten cents.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

We Twain Together.

I.

Over wild and lonely lands.

We twain together.

Touch of lips and clasp of hands.

We twain together.

Sometimes the hope some times the fear.

The song, the sigh, the smile, the tear.

But evermore your love, my dear.

And we twain together!

II.

Over seas of sad unrest.

We twain together.

One's head on the other's breast—

We twain together.

Breathing one sweet death breath.

The light of life, the bitter death.

Until the green sod covereth

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Breaking Up Pneumonia.

At a certain age, or rather, a stage of human life, the mind becomes set in a groove of habit, and after that,

according to the psychologist, it becomes difficult to make new impressions upon the mind or change the individual's views or habits.

Before the mind sets it is comparable in many cases with India rubber, very plastic indeed and susceptible to new impressions, but the new ideas or thoughts are likely to bounce off again without any lasting effect on the mind. A man with an India rubber mind and a mind set in a groove of

With-out organic iron, both food and Vitamine are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissues unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

DAVIS IS SILENT ON COAL PARLEY

Washington, March 6.—Secretary Davis declared today that he was "not prepared to make public the progress made" in the labor department negotiations with bituminous coal mine operators in the central competitive field, instituted at President Harding's direction for the purpose of getting mine workers and mine owners into a conference before April 1, when a national strike in union fields is threatened.

It is understood that a considerable number of mine operators, especially in Pennsylvania, have indicated their refusal to enter a national conference with the union, on the ground that they do not intend to join in a national wage fixing agreement. They have in some cases proposed the alternative of making state or district wage agreements to replace wage contracts which expire April 1.

The telegraphic correspondence between the international president of the United Mine Workers, John L. Lewis, and President Harding, of the Illinois miners' Secretary Davis said in a statement on the question of local adjustment, "regarding separate state conferences, indicates there will be no move to secure separate state agreements in the central competitive field."

In the bituminous field, he added, "coal production had jumped about 40 per cent during the last seven weeks, or an increase of about 300,000 tons daily, the bulk of which goes into storage and indicates further material increase in coal surplus."

The central competitive field includes the states of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and part of West Virginia, where, under previous arrangements in the industry, a practically uniform scale of wages has been adopted under contracts between the unions and mine operators. The central field contract has been used as a basis for wage contracts in all the outlying fields in the United States.

James Lord, head of the mining section of the American Federation of Labor, issued a review today of recent coal mine wage negotiations, in which he said that "operators up to this time are in violation of the agreement" contained in the national wage contracts which expire April 1, because they have not entered a conference to consider renewal. He also issued some estimates of mine workers' earnings during 1921, which indicated that the year's pay in the Pittsburgh districts, with a total working time of 123 days, amounted to $762; in Ohio, with 118 days, $580, and in West Virginia, with 80 days, $500.

Interchurch Plan
"Born in Hell"
Declares Pastor

Following a statement by Dr. Cortland Meyers, formerly pastor of the Belmont temple, Boston, in which he referred to the interchurch movement fostered by the Northern Baptist conference as a plan "born in hell," Dr. M. A. Jones, pastor of the First Baptist church, arose and left the meeting Monday afternoon of the Evangelical Ministers' association which was being held in the Y. M. C.

Dr. Jones' action in leaving the room came as a climax to Dr. Meyers' statement concerning the interchurch movement and after he had paused for a moment to ask his hearers if he should continue with the address. Dr. P. McGee, of the Decatur Presbyterian church, stated that he did not agree with the speaker. At this point Dr. Meyers stated that anyone objecting to his statements was at liberty to leave the hall. Dr. Jones was the only minister present to depart.

Continuing with his subject, Dr. Meyers declared the interchurch movement, which was rejected by the Southern Baptist conference and other denominations, was a human idea propagated by human minds without thought to the spiritual welfare of those to whom it affected. While looking over some of the advertising matter originated by the interchurch movement officials, he noted, he said, the name of a certain prominent minister this afternoon, while the name of God or Jesus Christ appeared only once. Dr. Meyers, in concluding his address, deplored what he termed the material sentiment that theological seminaries in the north are becoming enmeshed and said they were leaving Christ and His teachings entirely out of their instructions.

How a Swiss Riding Master Won Prize American Heiress!

She told Papa McCormick, who is Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, that he must announce her engagement, or she would marry anyway. So the engagement of Mathilde McCormick,

The prospects of Mathilde's approaching marriage and the marriages of other American heiresses to equestrian heroes is interestingly told in a Charmé Seeds feature in The Magazine of

Atlanta's Newest Hotel Formally Opened Monday

Formal opening of Hotel Cecil, Atlanta's new million dollar commercial hotel, was held Monday evening.

Both H. R. and C. R. Cannon are widely known in Atlanta and the south, where they have operated hotels in various sections of Georgia and Alabama for many years. James F. DeJarnette, who will manage the hotel, has had a long and wide experience which has made for him many warm friends. He was formerly president of the Georgia Hotel Men's association and vice president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association.

With its additional facilities and special tariff rates the Cecil is expected to rank with the leading hotels of the south in popularity and patronage by both commercial and tourist travelers. The hotel was originally sold by T. J. Woods of the M. C. Kiser Real Estate company, to John A. Magnet for P. G. Coker. When Mr. Magnet decided to build the addition of 200 rooms, the Kiser agency also negotiated the deal, securing the property in the rear of the original building from H. R. and Cecil Cannon for Mr. Magnet.

The Kiser Real Estate company is one of the oldest and most prominent real estate concerns in the city, and has put through some large deals in the past. It expects to make announcements in the near future of some other large real estate deals and improvements.

The visit of the distinguished American in December, 1920, brought on what was termed the "Pershing flood," the river reaching higher stage than at any time since before the civil war.

This morning when General Pershing began his inspection of the infantry school at Camp Benning, in connection with members of the special army board now inspecting various military establishments, the day was cold and perfectly fair, following an ideal Sunday, and Columbus people rejoiced in the presence of apparently absolutely settled weather, saving in mind the efforts on the part of the elements to drown General Pershing when he first came to Benning.

AGREEMENT RECORDED IN COPPER CO. CASE

Washington, March 6.—A motion was made in the supreme court today by W. R. Miller, of Chattanooga, Tenn., representing the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company, and R. M. McConnell, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Arthur C. Powell, of Atlanta, counsel for the Tennessee Copper company, to make effective as a matter of record an agreement reached with the state of Georgia to maintain the present arbitration system and restrictions imposed upon the company until the fall of 1927.

The case, which has been maintained for some years upon the supreme court docket, was brought by the state of Georgia to obtain an injunction limiting the escape of sulphurous gases from the companies' plants in Tennessee which had been found injurious to the health of the people of Georgia. The motion made in the United States supreme court in the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company case Monday means that the present contract existing between the state and the copper companies at Copper Hill and Ducktown, Tenn., are continued in force for five years, according to M. F. Goldstein, member of the law firm of Little, Powell, Smith & Goldstein.

Mr. Goldstein said agreement was reached between the state and the copper companies several years ago as to the payment of damages to residents of Georgia in cases where damage was caused to their property from fumes from the copper companies' plants. He said the injunction limiting the escape of sulphurous gases from the companies' plants in Tennessee which had been found injurious to the health of the people of Georgia, in cases where damage was caused to their property from fumes from the copper companies' plants.

Prisoner Jailed To Foil Rescue Out of Hospital

Miami, Fla., March 6.—Acting on a "tip" he said he considered reliable, that Edgar C. Frady, Chicago auto-mobility manufacturer, who shot and killed his wife here, was to be kidnapped from the hospital and taken to Cuba aboard a yacht waiting outside the harbor, Sheriff Allen this afternoon had already removed Frady to the county jail and a special guard thrown about the building.

The sheriff received information, he said, that Chicago gunmen had been imported and that the plan only awaited nightfall to be put into operation. Frady's guards were to be overpowered, the sheriff declared he was told, and Frady was to be rushed to a speed boat lying in the Miami river. This boat was to transfer him to another larger boat well at sea, which was to whisk Frady beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

Friends of Frady, the sheriff's informant asserted, were behind the move. No names, however, were made known, and no charges thus far have been pressed in connection with the alleged plot. Immediately upon receiving the information, the sheriff had Frady removed to the jail. Two men armed with automatic shotguns were standing guard over Frady tonight and an armed guard patrolled the grounds.

The sheriff declared that when he went to remove Frady, the latter begged to be permitted to spend one more night in the hospital. The grand jury which will investigate the killing of Mrs. Frady convened this morning.

Maximum Rate Gas Law Ruled As Confiscatory

Washington, March 6.—The New York state laws of 1906, which provided that gas should be furnished to consumers in New York city at a price not in excess of 80 cents per thousand cubic feet, was declared by the supreme court to be confiscatory as to gas furnished during 1918 and 1919.

The opinion, which was unanimous, and was delivered by Justice McCardle in three cases brought by the attorney general of New York and other state officials against the Consolidated Gas company of New York, held that "rate making is no function of the courts and should not be attempted, either directly or indirectly." It sustained, however, the decision of the United States district court, which held the prescribed rate "has been confiscatory since January 1, 1918, and would continue to be."

A brief opinion was delivered in the New York and Queens gas case, which found that the statutory rate of $1 per thousand for which the company was permitted to charge for gas in the third ward had been confiscatory since January 1, 1919. The court announced it could "find no sufficient ground for disproving the action taken" by the trial court.

The court pointed out in the Consolidated cases that the company had supplied gas at the prescribed rate for

Two Former Murray Officials Are Indicted

Chatsworth, Ga., March 6.—(Special.)—T. P. Ramsey, former vice president of Murray county, H. H. Anderson, former clerk and attorney for the board of supervisors, and Horace Dodd, former cashier of the Bank of Chatsworth, are under indictment for embezzlement by the grand jury.

The indictment of Ramsey and Anderson is said to be based upon the report of the auditor who recently reported on the condition of the county's affairs, while the indictment of Dodd grew out of the shortage in his accounts alleged to have been disclosed in the audit of the books of the bank at the time he was checked out as cashier.

No statement has been given out by the accused men as to the charges against them. When seen at the courthouse this morning, Anderson stated that he only learned of the indictment yesterday afternoon, and that he had no statement to make, further than that he was confident that he could clear himself. The amount which the indictment charges him with having embezzled is something over $8,000 it is asserted.

229 PEACHTREE STREET

ENTRAPMENT CHARGED IN BLIND TIGER CASE

The principle of entrapment, as brought out in the Cefalu case recently, was the mainstay of the argument of Frank A. Doughman, attorney for Beatrice McGarrity, who was given a hearing on a liquor charge in the office of the United States commissioner Monday afternoon. The defendant, a colored servant in the boarding house of J. C. Reese, at 11 Combs street, is alleged to have sold a Coca-Cola bottle full of whisky to Lon Adair, volunteer prohibition agent, on March 6.

Mr. Doughman contended that the agent suggested the crime when he asked if the maid could find him "something to drink." It was also submitted that there was no evidence that the woman had been selling whisky previously.

Judge J. C. Brown, United States commissioner for the Newnan district, set the amount of the defendant's bond at $100 and left the case for the consideration of the grand jury. George R. Kincaid, federal prohibition officer, helped to make the arrest and stated that the woman had admitted selling the whisky.

A marked greenback said to have been used by Adair in the attempt to entrap the woman has not been located. Federal agents say they believe it was paid to Mr. Doughman by way of an attorney's fee and assert that no amount of persuasion can induce Mr. Doughman to turn over his fee to the government.

Prohibition activities in the city reached a climax for the past week when federal agents raided the store of Toney and Gossett, at 11 Piedmont avenue, Saturday night, according to N. T. Jones, assistant prohibition director. Officers are said to have found

FITZGIBBONS BACK ON FULTON GANG AFTER HOT CHASE

Leonard Fitzgibbons, found guilty of automobile theft, was back at work on the Fulton county chain gang after being at liberty since December 7, 1921, when he escaped from the gang.

Fitzgibbons was arrested and locked in the jail at Crossland, Tenn., last Thursday but he made his escape and was not heard from again until Sunday when he was caught in White county, Tennessee, after he accompanied by a woman in an automobile, said to have been stolen, had been pursued over the mountains for two days.

Warden C. F. Collier was sent to Chattanooga where the prisoner had been left in custody of the sheriff at that place. The woman arrested with Fitzgibbons gives her name as Lilla Webb and is being held charged with the theft of an automobile.

Fitzgibbons attempted to increase his number of escapes to three Sunday morning when he was caught trying to break the lock in his cell in the Chattanooga jail, but his efforts failed. H. F. Daniel, who was serving a life sentence on the gang for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Charlie Loggins at Canton, attempted to escape at the same time Fitzgibbons, but was shot down by the guards.

DR. WHITAKER SPEAKS AT NEGRO Y. M. C. A.

Dr. John W. Whitaker, chaplain of Tuskegee institute, delivered an interesting address at the Y. M. C. A. on Butler street Sunday afternoon. He stated that the thinking of the average Christian was all wrong. Most of them, he said, were trying to make heaven their home when they were in the present time. He said that it was incumbent upon the Christian people of Atlanta to get this unchristian world into the church and put them to work for the kingdom.

The membership campaign committee is holding meetings each evening from 6:30 to 7 o'clock for reports and to get the teams under way. The campaign is a close Sunday with a large mass meeting at the Wheat Street Baptist church.

Burglars ascended into the big 4-story brick building from a trapdoor in the roof and secured the cash and about $20 in stamps from the safe. Detectives searching the place Sunday morning found no clues as to how entrance to the building was effected, but Monday, when the burglary of the Southern Moline Fuel company, in an adjoining building, was reported to headquarters, it was decided that the thieves entered the place through a rear window and ascended to the roof, jumped to the roof of the building and went down the trapdoor.

About $65 in cash and 2,000 postage stamps were reported stolen from the Southern Moline Fuel company. The valuables were in a safe, which was opened with chisels.

According to J. W. Rawlings, manager of B. F. Avery & Sons, there has been so many crackings recently his company rarely keeps anything of value in the safe. A sign, advising everyone that the safe is unlocked, hangs over it, he said.

TWO BURGLARIES REPORTED MONDAY

A placard notifying all burglars that the big strong box was unlocked Sunday morning, but no money, turn the handle instead of opening it with chisels or dynamite, probably prevented considerable damage to the big safe of P. F. Avery & Sons, of 584 Whitehall street, last Sunday morning.

Season Ticket Sale Is Heavy For '22 Opera

A large crowd was in line early Monday morning, waiting to purchase season tickets for grand opera, and a heavy demand for season tickets continued throughout the day. It was indicated that the season ticket sale will be very heavy this year.

On April 3 the sale of single tickets will begin. Season tickets will be on sale until March 25. The Music Festival association has announced that tickets for two entire sections are being reserved for mail order business.

Nine operas will be heard in Atlanta this season, which opens April 24. Gallic, L'Oréal, Mounet, Martinielli, Gigli, Harold, Crampton, and other Metropolitan stars will sing.

Others were received through the mail at the chamber of commerce Monday.

There are undoubtedly many people whom we did not reach during the active work of the campaign who would like to give," stated Mr. Brownlee, "as Monday's experience proves. And we will gladly welcome such further contributions.

Facilities are being maintained by the chamber of commerce, through the courtesy of its officials, for the handling of all additional subscriptions, which may be either phoned in or mailed. It is not necessary to send cash or checks; simply a memorandum stating the amount one desires to give, and the name and address of the donor. Or one of the regular subscription blanks may be obtained at the chamber of commerce.

Atlanta's response to the appeal of her five most important social service agencies has been magnificent, and this further testimony is gratifying indeed," remarked Mr. Brownlee.

MRS. PENN HURT

WHEN CONTROLLER

ON TROLLEY BURNS

Mrs. O. R. Penn, of 214 Ormond street, was painfully injured shortly after noon Monday when the controller of an outboard Central avenue trolley car burned out, creating a panic among the passengers.

In the rush of the passengers for the rear of the car, Mrs. Penn was badly bruised. She was carried to her residence and placed under the care of a physician.

More than one-third of the known chemical elements have been discovered since the nineteenth century.

"Howard Had Made Boast."

"From information we had received, we knew that John Howard had been a citizen to go after Sheriff Wilbanks and his deputy, who accompanied us. We kindled a little fire by the roadway and waited for the train of whisky runners."

"Before long we saw three cars coming, which halted when they saw us and transferred several large boxes to the rear car, which turned around and made off down the road. It was then 2 o'clock."

"The front car began to turn and we drove our car up so as to prevent it. It was then that the liquor car attempted to pass us and crashed into our front fender, both cars interlocking. The first shot came from the whisky runner, after which several shots were fired by both parties."

Howard Meets Death.

"It was then that Howard was killed and his companion wounded. As dawn was breaking and tracked the cars by the route. We found two caches of whisky, 200 gallons in all. There is no question that the first shot was fired by the men in Howard's car. Sunday morning the county police found one of the bootlegger's pistols, containing two exploded cartridges. One of the men in the car pointed a shotgun at me and it was wrenched out of his hand. Later we found it to be loaded with buckshot."

The names of the alleged whisky-runners taken in the encounter are John Martin, alias Mannin; O. P. Wilson, said to be the driver of the second car, and Jack Bailey.

Warrants are being sworn out for all concerned, it is said. The cars taken in the raid have been confiscated.

Released From Prison.

The dead man, John Howard, according to Mr. Dismukes, was released from the state prison in Georgia just five months ago, after his arrest for carrying 60 gallons of liquor in a car.

According to Mr. Spence and Mr. Dismukes, the account of the melee carried by a Chattanooga newspaper failed to uphold the government in the affair. On the other hand, they said, it appeared to accord sympathy to the whisky-runners, whom it is intimated, were cops in a system which has operated throughout the southeastern states which the government agents have been trying to stamp out.

Mr. Spence praised the co-operation of the people along the Chattanooga road, who, he says, are anxious to see the law enforced and who are deeply concerned over the current notion that north Georgia is the stamping grounds for bootleggers and distillers.

Chamber Drive

The first day's efforts in the Junior Chamber of Commerce membership round-up proved highly encouraging, according to officials of the organization. One hundred and nine new members were reported Monday afternoon and it was known that there were many others lined up by teams who had not reported up to that hour.

Team No. 3, under the command of L. J. Saperstein, was the first high team with 32 new members to its credit. Eighteen were secured by one man alone. He was Van Burgh, of the Union Central Life Insurance company.

The "round-up" is mainly for the purpose of bringing to the attention of the young men and young women of Atlanta between the ages of 18 and 30 the advantages of taking active part in the civic life of the city.

The Junior Chamber stands for aggressive civic effort and the accomplishments of its first year of existence are testimony to the high purpose of its founders and the strenuous activity and persistence of its leaders.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has received the unqualified endorsement of all the leading civic bodies of Atlanta. Monday, the mayor took occasion to go on record as endorsing the body in behalf of the city.

A mass meeting of special interest to the young men and women of the eleventh ward district, which includes Ormeau Park and East Atlanta, has been called for Thursday night at 7:30 in the Martha Brown Memorial church on South Moreland avenue.

Sponsoring this meeting is the following organizations of the eleventh ward: Adult Wesley class of Martha Brown Memorial, Christian Endeavor societies of churches of East Atlanta, the Ormeau Park Presbyterian church, Berean class of East Atlanta Baptist church, Eleventh Ward Improvement club, Ormeau Park Improvement club and the East Side Improvement club.

The meeting will feature Palmer Blackburn, vice president of the Junior Chamber, who will speak on the history and accomplishments of the body. Robert L. Troy, secretary of the Junior Chamber, will stress the advantages of joining the organization during the present round-up.

Mayor Key has accepted an invitation to discuss the Muscle Shoals project and the bearing of this and other industrial activities on the young men of Atlanta. B. S. Parker, secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, will point out the specific benefits of enrollment in the Junior Chamber.

Young women of the Adult Wesley class of Martha Brown Memorial will serve refreshments, which will be noted for the occasion by the L. W. Rogers company.

Miss Mamie Gene Cole, talented expression teacher of Ormeau Park, and sister, Mildred, are arranging several entertaining features. The meeting will be presided over by Hubert F. Lee, acting toastmaster of the occasion.

Denying the charge that he instigated a blackmail plot to secure from his former wife custody of their two children, D. O. Dougherty Monday addressed a statement to The Constitution explaining his position in the sensational events surrounding the domestic affairs of himself and Mrs. Dougherty.

The statement follows:

I take this opportunity to request that you accord me in your paper an opportunity to deny a malicious falsehood that was given to your paper, and published by you some time ago about me.

Referring to your issue of April 20, 1921, page 7, you will see one article, and the third paragraph is partly as follows:

"While waiting to go before the grand jury, Mrs. Dougherty charged that the alleged blackmail attempt was instigated by her divorced husband in an effort to take the children from her."

Also, in your issue of April 20 or 21, you explain what the alleged blackmail was, that I was accused of instigating. The second paragraph of that article is in full as follows:

"The grand jury indictment stated that 'W. C. Alley did verbally accuse Mrs. Dougherty and M. E. Tilly, the said Tilly then a married man, with being intimates, and threatened to tell Mrs. Tilly, and D. O. Dougherty, divorced husband of Mrs. Dougherty, of the alleged instigation of Mrs. Dougherty, of the blackmail plot.'"

I had hoped that this case would be tried, and that the truth of the matter would be learned then as to whether or not I was implicated. However, I learned only last week that this case had been postponed.

Solicitor Boykin stated to me that both sides wished it not postponed, the attorneys for the Alley and Barber Arnold, the attorney for Mrs. Dougherty.

As it stands, charges have been removed from the couple alleged to have attempted this blackmail; at the same time, I stand accused, through your paper, of having instigated the attempt to blackmail.

I hope you will do me the justice to publish this denial, and also to allow me to say that though your paper did not publish the statement that Ralph McClelland, also accused me to a reporter of having instigated this attempt to blackmail. I was told by this reporter that this statement had been made.

In his office yesterday, Ralph McClelland refused either to affirm or deny that he had made such an accusation, when I called to ask him about it.

I trust that you will publish my full denial that I had anything to do with the alleged attempt to blackmail Mrs. Dougherty and M. E. Tilly.

Yours respectfully,

D. O. DOUGHERTY.

Mother Believed Murdered, Says She Hid For Daughter

MRS. ROY ALFRED MAYO, THE DAUGHTER, AND (ABOVE AT RIGHT) HER MOTHER, MRS. E. S. CHEATHAM, WHO DISAPPEARED.

"I disappeared because I believed it might help my daughter to be happy with her husband," is the statement of Mrs. E. S. Cheatham, wealthy New York widow who was found recently in a bare-wall room in Chicago. She had been missing since her clothes were found in a bathing beach locker at Coney Island August 22, 1921. At first officials believed she had been abducted and murdered. A nationwide search was conducted. Mrs. Mayo's husband sued for divorce last summer, claiming that Mrs. Mayo and her mother had conspired against him. The suit is still pending.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Blossoms—If your skin is so dry that it will not retain the powder, massage into it a very small amount of cream, using the finger tips until all of the cream has been taken into the pores. Wipe off the surplus with soft rag and apply the powder.

E. S.—The mixtures containing honey and almonds should relieve this dryness of your hands. Any good oil or cream will keep the cuticle around the nails from becoming too dry. Oil or cream should be rubbed on the tips before going out into the wind. If this does not stop the tendency to cracking, consult your doctor as the skin may not be functioning normally.

Getting Old—This shriveled condition of your neck is not so serious that you need to feel that you are aging. Nourish the tissue again by massaging the throat regularly with a skin food. Close the pores by dabbing cold water over the throat and follow up with friction from a coarse towel. The astringent lotion which you have can be used once each week at the end of the treatment.

Favorite—The caloric system of reduction is that of computing the number of calories required to nourish the body while the excess weight is being sloughed off. A calorie is a measure of food values.

Kay—Curling the hair with a heated iron dries out the natural secretions making it brittle. Hair that is inclined to be dry will show the effect of this much more quickly than that which is oily.

U. T.—When the hands get into the condition where the skin cracks and bleeds, it will require the greatest care to overcome it. Even after this is effected, unless the hands are protected, the same condition will return until the end of the cold season.

Says you are doing the housework, protect the hands with gloves during all of the work. If it is working in water, wear rubber gloves, as the water will keep the pores open and make the skin dry, which causes the cracking. Scrubbing dishes and all work in caring for fires will roughen the skin and dry out the secretions, so protect the hands when doing such work by using the rubber gloves that can be laundered easily and renewed from any of the five and ten cent stores. If the cracks do not heal quickly, rub mutton tallow into them before retiring and protect them overnight by wearing large old kid gloves. Scrub the hands after work and if this will not remove all the soil from the skin, use a pumice stone as you would a cake of soap. Dry the skin thoroughly and rub into it a little creosote lotion such as that made from honey and almonds. A nail brush is better for keeping the nails clean than

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Really and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It gives right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 3½ ounces of Pinx from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family.

It is a truly astonishing how quickly it penetrates through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying cough ticks and droned cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinx is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "Pinx," ounces of "Pinx" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinx Co., Wayne, Ind.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Safety First.
A little alum added to the water when rinsing children's clothes renders them less liable to catch fire.

Fat From Soup.
To remove the fat from hot soup pour the soup through a cloth wrung out of cold water. The fat will remain in the cloth.

Scuffed Slippers.
By applying liquid courtplaster, slippers that have become scuffed can be mended so that the scratches are scarcely noticeable.

Getting Rid of Mildew.
Mildew can be removed by soaking the article in a mixture of a pint and a quart of water. Soak the heaping teaspoonful of chloride of article about 20 minutes; then wash and hang in the sun.

Have You Tried These?
Water in which rice has been boiled is splendid for mixing cakes.

Wet the cup before measuring molasses or syrup to insure correct measurement.

Rice baked with grated cheese and served with tomato sauce is a pleasant change.

Scoop out the centers of ripe tomatoes and fill with a mixture of celery, cubes of veal loaf, chopped olives and mayonnaise dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves.

WAS A BROKEN-DOWN WOMAN

Then I Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicines

Donaldsonville, La.—"I write with pleasure to praise your medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—which has done so much to restore my health. I was a broken-down woman until my husband brought me a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Mediators. I had been having pains every month and at intervals between, was weak and seemed to be something at times, but in a week I felt like another woman. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. It did me a lot of good too. I cannot praise your medicines too much and will be more than glad to recommend them to any woman who is suffering from female troubles. You may print my testimonial, as it is true.—Mrs. T. A. LANDRY, 612 Miss St., Donaldsonville, La.

Note Mrs. Landry's words—"as it is true." Every letter recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine. It is a statement telling the merits of these medicines just as the women in your own neighborhood tell each other.

MONKEY FUR CLOCKING ON MILADY'S STOCKING

Well, well, well, monkey fur clocking in hosiery does sound shocking, but it isn't, it is just exceedingly Frenchy. Just two thin lines of monkey fur running up the side of the leg on hosiery in camel, gray, beige and nude turn the trick.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY

BY AD SCHUSTER

A VOICE IN THE DARK

Most every man who did not come into manhood's estate with riches has at least wondered what he would do if he were faced with the alternative, to starve or to steal. Add to the balance one or more dependents, and the decision makes times harder and more difficult. The problem is as old as the instinct of self-preservation. Lloyd Warner and his family were without food. They were at the end of all things and sat silent and dazed through the longest Sunday that had ever come into their lives. The children did not cry and the wife did not complain. They were past that.

When night came Warner left the chair in which he had been sitting all day, stood erect, with a new resolution, and went out. His wife did not question. She wondered.

Until midnight Warner walked the streets. Several times he nerved himself to ask passersby for money and each time he was refused. The thing was settled, the man who had been a signpainter became a burglar.

He slipped into inviting houses, walked softly and pulled his hat over his eyes, his outward and mental being assuming a role he had rehearsed in imagination. It was the instinct of the hungry animal, a parent animal, that held him.

The burglar acted quickly, following lines that he had laid down, half unconsciously, in the afternoon. He would break into the home of his neighbor, Isador Wein, for Isador could afford to lose a little and was good natured enough to take the loss philosophically.

For a first job it was ridiculously easy. An open window invited entrance to a living room and Warner climbed in. The moon on his back threw a shadow across the floor and frightened him. He stood still and looked about, with a queer feeling that he had changed identities with someone else—that this was not himself at all.

Lloyd Warner, burglar, stood as if paralyzed when a voice came from the other room. It was Isador, speaking drowsily:

"Now, take young Warner," the old man said, "he's an honest young fellow and he needs a job. It's too bad he can't find work. I believe that the first thing in the morning I'll go over and ask him to help me out in the dyeworks. More than likely, he can make himself useful."

If there was any response the burglar did not hear it, for he had climbed out of the window and was running for home.

The wife and children had lost their troubles in sleep when Warner reappeared. Next morning Isador Wein rang the bell and stepped in. He carried a basket of food.

"You can charge this stuff to your wages if you wish," he said, looking keenly at Warner. "For I am going to give you a job, if you will take it."

The young man had worked for Isador a week when the latter said: "My wife, she will come back from the country tomorrow."

"How long has she been gone?" Wein looked over his spectacles and answered, with a deliberate emphasis: "She has been gone a month and I have been living all alone!" he put his hand on the other's shoulder.

"Sometimes," he said, "in the moonlight, I talk to myself."

A Wife on Leave

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

Richard Brabant, a successful young lawyer, has given a year's leave of absence to his wife. Sally, hoping that she will learn something of life during that time. She began by meeting.

Keith Gilbert, always labeled "dangerous," and through his association with New York's gayest crowd of celebrities of the aviation world, through him Lee Craig, a pretty artist; Guy Selden, a playwright, and Graham Browne, a financier. Gilbert makes no secret of his love for her, nor does Patricia Loring, a modern flapper, make any secret of her fondness for him. Sally goes to a dance club with.

Barbara Lane, who is an old-fashioned wife, and her husband and their guest, Neal Calhoun, and there sees Gilbert with Patricia Calhoun, looking at Gilbert as if not a man whom Sally should know. Sally learns that her husband, who has been away, has taken his pretty secretary with him, and is so pleased by the knowledge that the accounts Gilbert's invitation to a house party at the Elys, his country place. The evening of her arrival she sees mysterious lights on the river and sees signals from the house.

CHAPTER XX.
Out of the Night.

(Copyright, 1922, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

At the sound of that low, ominous whistle, Patricia cried out shrilly, and then clutched Keith's arm. Sally rose so hastily that her chair went clattering to the floor, and Guy Selden's customary expression of cynical amusement changed to one of lively interest. Graham Browne and Lee Craig remained unmoved.

"How about having our coffee by the living room fireplace?" suggested Keith, as calmly as if he had not heard the significant whistle. To Sally he seemed to have lost his nervousness, suddenly, and to have regained his old, careless poise. He was laughing as he rose and offered her his arm. "Doubtless we can finish the plot in there."

He remained standing when the others had seated themselves about the fire. One arm resting along the mantel, his head thrown back, he smiled down at them with eyes that were amused and faintly malicious, especially when they rested on Graham Browne.

"And now," he said, "drawing his words lazily. "How about the rest of the story? Browne, can you finish it?"

"Possibly." The financier's voice was curt, faintly belligerent, as if he had accepted a challenge. "I was in Canada last month, up near the border, and saw something of the way liquor is brought in. An automobile, carrying men with guns, goes ahead of a truck in which the stuff is loaded. If there's trouble, the men in the first car engage the revenue officers in a fight, and those on the truck get away if they can. Is that the way of it, Gilbert?"

"Why ask me?" retorted Keith, protestingly. "How could I know anything about it? I don't even deal with the pirates in New York who bring you stuff labeled 'Hair Tonic,' charge you twenty dollars a bottle for it, and then—you find it's really hair tonic after all!"

"Why go on with this—the plot's racing out," declared Guy Selden, throwing his cigarette into the fire and getting up. "Where's that ruffian who's been talking about before dinner, Keith?"

As the others grouped themselves about it, Sally wandered restlessly across the room. Gambling never interested her, and tonight, with this new, sharp enmity between Graham Browne and Keith making her feel vaguely uncomfortable, she referred to amuse herself in some other way.

Graham Browne had told his story with a certain purpose in mind—she was sure of that. His very tone had made it significant. And Keith had been aware of his reasons for telling it. Yet the idea was preposterous, she told herself, angrily.

occasionally to beg her to be his mistress beside the spinning wheel, at least. Lee Craig sauntered to her side, glanced at the book which she was pretending to read, and sauntered away again without a word. Sally watched her go, in her fluttering, peacock-like frock. Did Lee never worry about anything, she asked herself, curiously. She seemed always to be so sure, to let the world and its ways bother her so little.

"She couldn't be more confident about her life if she were married!" Sally thought, and then made a little face at herself. She had been married, happily, as such things went—and here she was, gripped by fear that made her turn cold and tremble at every sound.

Fearfully she turned to look over her shoulder toward the nearest window. It was a black, square, framed in vivid, huge flowered chintz. It told nothing of that world without, which had grown so terrifying.

She stared at it for a moment, fascinated by the thought that anyone without there, in that blackness, could easily look into the room and see the little group about the roulette wheel, the money heaped between them, and could see her there by the fire, too. It would be easy for an escaping criminal from Sing Sing, for instance, to point a revolver at them—to break in—

Her sharp scream awoke the others around to face her. Gasping, clinging to the back of the couch, she was pointing toward the window.

"I saw a face there!" she cried, as Keith ran to her. "There, in the window—a man's face!"

She crumpled up on the wide couch, sobbing, while the others crowded about, trying to reassure her.

"It's just that fool verna Graham was telling at dinner—that was it," insisted Guy Selden. "Now, wasn't that it, Sally? You're overwrought—been going out too much nights, haven't had enough sleep. That's all!"

He seemed more anxious to reassure himself than to quiet her.

"Tell me what you thought you saw—please, Sally." Keith, kneeling beside her on the couch, spoke in a quiet voice that was effective in spite of her fear. Struggling to keep her voice from rising hysterically, she told him how a man's face had appeared at the window, for only an instant, and then vanished when she was named. She had seen it clearly—there had been no mistake. She did not tell him that the face she had seen at the window was Neal Calhoun's.

Canton Crepes, Satin Back Cantons, Georgette, Crepe Romaine, Chiffon Taffetas—all these lovely materials are fashioned into dresses showing the widest possible range of pleasing styles and charming colors.

New Printed Crepe de Chines are most attractive in several models.

Cape Dresses of Crepe Romaine are notably pretty in white and in all the leading high colors of Spring.

Taffetas in many fascinating designs in black, navy, and brown.

Shadow Lace is very effectively used in self-color on some of the more elaborate models.

New Trimmings are quite stunning. Hand-embroidered designs in large black flowers on contrasting shades.

Some are beautifully beaded in both crystal and self-color beads.

Contrasting Colors, so much in vogue, are shown in many combinations that please the eye.

The Color Range is quite extraordinary—several lovely shades of brown, blacks, navies, putty color, beige, periwinkle, apricot, rust, French blue, Copenhagen and others.

The Materials are good, too—nothing but such qualities as one would select for making a gown to order.

Avera and Stribling Are Set For Legion's Bouts Tonight

Attractive List of Preliminaries Arranged—Carr Vs. Corley, Dugan Vs. Putnam—Start 8:30.

TONIGHT'S EVENTS.

Main bout—Young Stribling vs. Larry Avera—10 rounds.
Frank Putnam vs. Knockout Dugan—10 rounds.
Jackie Carr vs. Kid Corley—10 rounds.
All fights to decision. First event starts at 8:30 o'clock. Johnny Glynn will referee.

It goes without saying that the American Legion has hit the match of the year in arranging the Avera-Stribling go that will take place at the club, corner Hunter and Forsyth streets, tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Tickets on advance sale are going so fast that those wishing to be assured of a seat should most certainly arrange for them during today, as all of the reserve seats have been placed at the advance sale locations and the only seats to be had at the box office will be the 300 general admission tickets which will not go on sale until the box office opens tonight. Reserved seats will be had today at Chess' place, the Rex and the Majestic Billiard parlors.

From the interest being displayed in the show of the legion, it seems that their success is assured on the weekly plans of staging a good match every Tuesday night. Each succeeding match will be announced from the ring every Tuesday and all boys boxing for the legion will be compelled to be in the city at least three days in advance.

In this way the fans who are interested can visit the club and see both main fighters in their workouts before a match and shall be able to judge for themselves as to the ability of each.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN THIS STRUGGLE.

Not since the Boorde-Stribling match of last August has so much interest been shown in a fight here, the wise ones predict that this is the time that Young Stribling will have some of his laurels taken away and on the other hand the Stribling friends are predicting that Young Stribling will defeat Avera as easily as he has done the rest of the Walk Miller stable. Stribling himself has stated that he feels sure that he can easily defeat Avera although he knows that Larry is the best puncher of the entire lot.

Both Avera and Miller have taken this match more seriously than any yet staged here, in as much as Stribling demanded the best end of the purse on the battle. They are peevish and will leave no stone unturned to give Stribling the worst pasting he has ever received.

WINNER TO MEET SENIOR JACQUES ABELLE.

The legion will undertake to match the winner of the coming match with Jake Abel for a fight here in the near future and if successful, the match will be staged for the welterweight championship of the south.

Two other 10-round matches with a battle royal as an opener will be staged which will make one of the best balanced cards staged in Atlanta in a long, long while.

All boxers will finish up their training today with a light workout and each has reported as being in the very best of condition for their match. Johnny Flynn will referee in all of the legion matches. He says that he expects to make them battle all the way, not allowing any stalling on the part of any fighter on any card.

WESLEY FIVE LOSES 21-19

Central Baptist, Grace Methodist and North Avenue Presbyterian were winners in the Federal Sunday School Basketball league Monday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The Central Baptist-Wesley (Gibert Class) game ending in a score of 21-19, was by far the best game of the night. The score at the halfway mark was 10 to 5, with Wesley on the long end. The Central Baptist team started a rally at the beginning of the second half that won the game in the last two minutes of play. The Central Baptist team started off the game with several sub plays, but the regular varsity was soon inserted in the game. Grace Methodist had very little trouble in winning over the Druid Hills Baptist team, 29 to 12. The Druid Hills team scored only two field goals during the game, those coming in the last two minutes of play when Tumlin scored them from under the goal.

North Avenue Presbyterian won over the Gordon Street Baptist, 32 to 12 in an interesting game. The team work of the North Avenue team was the best of the three games. Their passing was quick and very accurate. North Avenue was leading 12 to 8 at the end of the first half.

SKINNER IS MAKING HIT

New Orleans, La., March 6.—First Baseman Wallie Pipp and Recruit Outfielder ("Mule") Skinner, of the Yankees, were in uniform Sunday for the first time this year.

Pipp reported here a couple of days ago, but was forced to do his training in the grandstand by and the arrival of his baseball shoes. Skinner came to the Yankees last spring from the Oedartown club, of the Georgia State league, was farmed to the Dallas club of the Texas league, last season, and now is regarded as one of the most promising rookies on the team's roster. He reported to Manager Egan Sunday morning and was one of the first on the field for the regular daily workout.

Infielder Aaron Ward is still a hold-out and apparently will not begin training until his differences with the club are settled to his satisfaction. Sunday's workout lasted two hours and consisted of batting and fielding practice. In the latter Pipp covered

NEW ORLEANS OUTFIT BUSY

New Orleans, La., March 6.—(Special.)—What is apt to develop into the most intensive training siege for two ball clubs started at Heinemann's ball yard Monday when Miller Huggins, Yankee boss, and J. Dobbie, Pel chief, began the big drive to fit their men for the 1922 pennant campaign. The Yanks have done little or nothing since arriving here because of adverse weather conditions. The Pels, too, have been more or less idle.

Huggins' division which has been watering at Hot Springs for the past fortnight is expected to report in a day or two. Included in the squad will be the "Babe" Ruth person and his financial whisperer. Ruth will be the chief attraction and he has made demands in regard to his salary demands, and likewise in an outfield position in the first exhibition game in less than a week.

Heinemann doesn't seem anxious to rush the Pels. Because of Dobbie arriving a trifle late, the mogul evidently prefers to have him, take charge of the training, though Larry Gilbert has a sufficient number of minor leaguers ready for a nine-inning win Sunday.

Heinemann is depending upon some of the rookies listed for tryouts to make themselves popularly known. He is banking on Johnny Wright, former Tullahoma, as well as infielder Vose, whose contract is said to have cost Clarke Griffith, of the Washington club, three thousand dollars, and who comes to the Pels through the deal for Tom Phillips. Pel fans, however, rarely become interested over rookies, but they do value here, as it does everywhere else, let 'em show something. It is held by the Pel mogul that Wright will do well, and if he does, Manager Heinemann may be confronted with a proposition similar to that of several years ago, when Walter Barbare supplanted "Cotton" Knapp at short and remained there the entire season.

The Pels have a much longer period to get in condition than the Yanks. There will be more than 30 days of real work for them. If they are with the weather man taking his brand of chilling winds elsewhere, the Dobbie aggression will settle down shortly and be able to start the season in tip-top condition.

RIFLE CLUB JOINS N. R. A.

At a very enthusiastic meeting held Monday night the Atlanta Rifle and Pistol club voted to affiliate with the National Rifle association.

The national association is conducted under the direct supervision of the government, and is composed of the finest members in every state of the union, as well as hundreds of clubs similar to the one here.

Although the local club is very young, it is growing fast, new members being added to its rolls daily. The initiation fee is charged and the annual dues are small. It is the purpose of the Atlanta club to develop a strong team to accept these challenges, and show the country that Atlanta has some mighty good shots, as well as other things.

Amateurs should be especially interested in the work of the club, as they will meet some of the best shots in the state by attending the meetings, and will have the opportunity of receiving coming from men whose reputation with the rifle and pistol is nationwide.

The vice president, J. E. Oxford, 418 Healey building, is glad to give any information, or receive applications for membership.

WALKER WINS MOBILE MEET

Mobile, Ala., March 6.—Cyril Walker, professional, of the Englewood Country club, Englewood, N. J., won first prize in the Mobile Country club's open golf tournament today with a low score of 152 for 36 holes.

Gene Sarazen, of the Highland Country club, Pittsburg, who was winner of the southern open championship in New Orleans last Saturday, took second prize with a score of 154. Other prize winners were as follows:

Charley Hoffman, Philmont Country club, Philadelphia, third, 155.

John Golden, of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., fourth, 158.

Pat O'Hara, Richmond Country club, fifth, 157.

Tom Boyd, Foxhills, N. Y., sixth, 150.

George Bowden, Hamilton Country club, seventh, 150.

Tom Bajoppi, Maplewood Country club, Maplewood, N. J., eighth, 161.

Pat Doyle, Algonquin club, St. Louis, ninth, 161.

Frank Adams, Gulfport, Miss., tenth, 162.

First Open Meet.

This was the first open tournament ever staged by the Mobile Country club, and was a decided success. The large galleries following the various pairs, especially those who watched Sarazen and MacDonald, Walker and O'Hara, and others, including John Golden, saw a wonderful exhibition of golf.

MacDonald and Sarazen were with in pitching distance after their drives on the long thirteenth hole, the long as well as difficult fifteenth hole, the long seventeenth and eighteenth holes. MacDonald's drive on the thirteenth was estimated at 300 yards, mostly uphill.

The eighteen entrants in the Country club's tournament included many of the very best professional golfers in the country, but the record of Mobile course never having been shot in par stands the prize of $100 for the player making 36 holes 147 or less was not collected. Walker's score of 152 was the nearest they came. John Golden made the lowest score on a single round of eighteen holes when he turned in 74.

San Antonio, Texas, March 6.—A vast sporting enterprise centering in Mexico City, was announced Monday by C. T. Hennah, former Canadian sportsman and builder of the Mount Royal and Devonshire race tracks.

Hennah, associated with E. R. Howards, New York, plans to build a race track, an auto speedway, and a baseball park with concrete grandstands in the Mexican capital. He has obtained concessions, he said, from President Obregon and the Mexican congress, guaranteeing the security of the enterprises. The race track is to be opened Thanksgiving day, he said.

Holdouts Gradually Coming Over Wingo, Bedgood, Trouble Locals

BY MIKE THOMAS

Now that "Babe" Ruth is safely and satisfactorily bedded down with the Yankees for a five-year period, other and smaller fry with their lesser demands in the way of coin of the realm are at last being to get a little space.

Ruth's salary and the terms of his contract are a dark secret. No details except that little sporting proposition which caused him to take his pen in hand have been given out. In this case are certain differences. One report says that a silver half-dollar was offered and another report has it that a common or garden variety of penny was the coin. However, this is neither here nor there, as far as the fans are concerned, it might as well have been a seven-dollar bill, just as long as Old Swattus the First has signed.

As far as the Yankees are concerned, there is now but one large and beautifully colored fly in the ointment. This happens to be Aaron Ward. Ward is not asking for the other half of the earth left after "Babe" demands were met, but still, from all reports, when Ward is mentioned it brings on a bad attack of chills and fever to the associated colonists.

CRACKERS BOTHERED WITH TWO HOLDOUTS.

Now, then, to get closer home with this holdout fever. The Crackers are bothered with but two of these recalcitrant athletes. One of these is a somewhat outcast, being toward disliking, and the other is a somewhat of a trouble maker.

Reck worked up something of a reputation as a conscientious objector during his pastime around Atlanta, and showing during parts of last season just after he was acquired, he was a somewhat of a trouble maker. While "Red" and his ball playing, along with his recalcitrant tactics, lack a whole lot of having the manly and angelic bearing of a professional, he is just about ready to allow this outfielder to have his little say, and then when he gets ready to talk turkey he will find the door shut. Let us have "Welcome" on in large letters completely hidden from the public eye, and the door locked and the key thrown away.

PHIL BEDGOOD'S SWEET TEMPER.

Then there is one Phil Bedgood. Phil is a pitcher of more than average ability and a disposition that would seem to make him a perfect ball player. His attitude toward discipline is hard to understand. It is true that most anybody hates to be bossed around, but when a manager or captain tried to tell Phil what was good for him, it had about the same effect on him as a red pair of pants.

MURPHY VS. H. LITTLETON

New Orleans, La., March 6.—(Special.)—Happy Littleton, middleweight champion of the south, is matched in a fifteen-round bout with Frankie Murphy, runner-up for the title, March 20, at the Tulane club.

Promoter Frank Joret closed the match Saturday, and said that with good weather, he expected the fight would play to capacity in the Howard street arena.

Murphy is well known to southern fight fans, having been fighting around Charleston, S. C., and Arkansas and Shreveport. He claims victories over "Happy" Howard, Jackie Clark, Johnny Celnars and a host of others and is regarded as one of the toughest opponents Littleton could possibly face for his comeback.

Murphy was fighting around New York two years ago, and defeated all the tough middleweights, including Eddie Nugent, Danny Lynch, Eddie Kinney and Leo Leonard. The latter had Mike Gibbons on the floor twice in a recent bout, defeated Eddie O'Hare, Mike McTigue and a host of others, which gives the fans somewhat of a line on Murphy's class. It will be remembered that Tom Littleton, Happy's brother, was sent to Atlanta a few months ago to fight Murphy, and Murt stopped the tough Tom in three rounds.

Murphy is working at Mando's gymnasium, and while Sert announces that Littleton is to battle his home gymnasium and will work at the Orleans A. C. for this fight.

TOLEDO TEAM AT BRISTOL

Bristol, March 6.—(Special.)—The Toledo Mud Hens have arrived in Bristol for their spring training. The advance squad arrived Friday morning, consisting mainly of battery men. This squad has been augmented for the past two days.

Nineteen players are registered at the Virginia Annex, including President Bresnahan and Manager Fred Luders. The squad is expected to be increased to ten catchers and eighteen pitchers within a couple of days.

President Bresnahan has selected an empty tobacco warehouse as training quarters during bad weather. On the sunny days the players cavort at Tenny's park. During the training season a series of games has been arranged for the Mud Hens.

Danny Maritato and George Kopshaw, members of the State-Liners last year, are working out with the squad and to get in practice ahead of the other Apps.

The Toledo resort: Bill Stokes, Bob Wright, "Doc" Ayres, "Sep" Good, W. P. Berry, Bill O'Neill, Frank Herbst, Bill Shepp, John E. Minney, "Slim" Salls and Harry Brooks.

Catchers—Alex Schaufel, Cecil Hammond, Earl Wolgamot, Leo Morton.

Fielders—Manager Fred Luders and "Mickey" Baker.

FINAL ROUND FOR PREPS

BY ROY E. WHITE.

This afternoon the final round of the prep league basketball schedule will be played on the Wesley Memorial court at 5 o'clock. Boys' High and G. M. A. and University and Marist have the honor of finishing the schedule.

It is doubtful whether the University-Marist game will be played on account of the University team having taken part in the Cotton States tournament and the players being overworked. Coach Boon stated last night that the game would be played at a later date, provided Marist would consent.

The G. M. A.-Boys' High game will be a fitting climax. G. M. A. defeated Boys' High recently by 2 points and the Purple and White team is very anxious to even up matters, and finish the season with a victory.

G. M. A. will be minus the services of King, and probably Baker will be out, for he has not been at practice for several days.

Coach Johnson will probably use Brown and Stephens at forwards, Palmer at center and Slat and Gibbs at guards. The G. M. A. line-up will probably be Ross and Patton at forward, Fair at center and Chestnut and Irwin at guards.

TOM MILTON ADDS 500 POINTS IN RACE

Los Angeles, March 6.—Tommy Milton, winner of the 1921 national speedway championship under American association contest rules today, was the possessor of 530 points toward the 1922 title, and $10,000 prize money, as the result of his victory in the 250-mile race at the Beverly Hills speedway yesterday.

Milton, whisking his fast mound around the bowl for an average of 110.8 miles an hour, jumped into the lead in the first lap and held that position throughout with the exception of a few circuits during the middle of the race, when Ralph de Palma, famous Italian pilot, crept out in front. The veteran Italian went out of the competition in the one hundred and fifty-first lap with a broken piston.

Jimmy Murphy, winner of the French Grand Prix last year, was the second driver to finish, his average time for the 250 miles being 109.2 miles an hour. Harry Hartz won third place; Frank Elliott, fourth; Eddie Hearne, fifth; Joe Thomas, sixth, and Eddie Miller, seventh.

Bike Teams Tied.

New York, March 6.—The sixteen teams that started the spring six-day bicycle race in the Madison Square garden at midnight, were tied at the eighth hour today. They had pedaled 176 miles and two laps.

The record for the eighth hour is 189 miles and nine laps, made by Lawson and Drobach in 1914.

Atlanta Athletic Club Plays Rockhurst in National Meet

Kansas City Dopesters Believe Local Machine Has Fine Chance for Honors—Game at Nine.

Kansas City, March 6.—(Special.)

Coach Joe Bean and his charges, representing the Atlanta Athletic club, arrived here Sunday and the fast-pitching and hard-playing cage shooters in their opening workouts showed that they stood the trip well. They appear to be in excellent shape for the tournament that started this afternoon.

Coach Bean stated that he was satisfied with the condition of his charges and predicted that the winner of the tournament was going to have a tussle by the southeners before they walked off.

The last workout of the quintet was held in the Kansas City Athletic club gym on Monday. It was a light signal drill and the workout showed every earmark of a team in perfect playing condition.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday night the Atlantans will meet the local Rockhurst college team, and the consensus of opinion is that the Atlanta club will win the opener. The college fire is the best turned out by the local institution in several years. Their record for the season is excellent, but their competition has not been of the caliber that they will be forced to meet in the tournament. Several teams are entered that hold wins over this team.

KANSAS CITY QUINTET FAVORED TO WIN.

Talk around the hotel lobbies yesterday seemed to show that the Kansas City five, winners of last year's championship, were due to repeat, but even the most optimistic were not over-enthusiastic, because they realize that competition is here and in force. Several teams are entered to have better than a fair chance of coming through.

All teams entered are on the field and ready for the opening whistle.

The Pacific coast delegation, surrounding the team of the Los Angeles Athletic club, are ready to talk about their chances at any time. Their past performances in disposing of their opposition on the coast, shows a team of power. The local dopesters figure that the Los Angeles club, the present champions of Kansas City and the Atlanta outfit are the outstanding teams.

ATLANTA RANKED WITH FAVORITES.

Atlanta is conceded better than a fair chance of going far for several reasons. The first of these is the quality of their team. The second is on account of the fortune of the draw.

Atlanta in the upper bracket meets Rockhurst and the winner of the K. & I. T. R. R. and the Phillips Petroleum game, the former from Louisville and the latter from Oklahoma City, both classed as strong teams. Then if Atlanta comes through these games she meets the Lowe-Campbell, which team is classed as on a par with the team of the Kansas City Athletic club. This is the game that has the local dopesters up in the air. To win the Atlanta club must be at their top form.

If the Atlanta organization approaches her top form gradually and speeds up as the competition gets faster and keeps some power in reserve they are ready contenders. With Atlanta's experience and training, local students of the game consider that they will come along gradually and be fighting at the finish, with a fair chance of walking off with the honors.

NEW GOLF CLUB PLANS SPRING TOURNAMENT

Juliette, Ga., March 6.—Matthews links, Thomaston's recently organized club, is preparing for its first spring tournament. It is planned to begin this about March 13. Nearly all the active members of the club and many golf players from nearby towns have registered for the event. Matthews links has been put in excellent condition and is one of the finest golf courses in central Georgia.

THEATERS MOVIES

Atlanta Theatre—All week (matinee Wednesday and Saturday), "Victor Herbert's musical comedy, 'Angel Face'."

Lyric Theatre (Katie Vandell)—See advertisement for program.

Law's Grand (Vaudeville and Pictures)—See advertisement for program.

Howard Theatre—All week, Ann Q. Nilsson in "Three Live Ghosts," and other screen features.

Loew's Vaudeville (At the Lyric).

"Fool's Paradise," an eccentric bit of nonsense staged by Paul Hill and company, being "Madamoiselle," waiting enigma, captures first honors on a diverting bill of vaudeville at the Lyric for the first half of the week. The number is a melange of clever, subtle humor that is featured by "Madamoiselle's" famous impersonations.

Ed Lowry and Irene Prince are highly acceptable in "Vest Pocket Follies," excellent comedy work being pleasantly blended with good songs and good dancing. Miss Prince comes on at the end in a full dress, and is a very dainty and charming little artist.

Ten fingers started in the act of Grace Doro, musical wizard, drew the only girl who ever drew half a dozen encores with no more than a series of piano selections. Her interpretations of "Love Nest," as played by Doro, which was unusually good. Walter Ward and Ethel Dooly were well received in the versatile number, which closed the bill, was notable chiefly by reason of the fact that the drummer and pianist did not double duty as contortionist, while the other four players twisted and wiggled in the approved style of 1917. Miss Delmar is a very pretty little singer.

Loew's Vaudeville (At the Grand).

Five splendid acts are offered at Loew's Grand theatre on the vaudeville bill for the first half of the week. The most popular act is hard to pick. But Gaylord and Lancton, billed as "The Apple Sisters," received the largest share of applause on Monday night. The offering is a novel one. Opening in blackface with a burlesque rope jumping number they change to a dressing room act and make up in white face. The latter act is bright and full of witty sayings, both girls being eccentric comedienne of rare ability.

The show opens with George and Edy Garden, experts on the xylophone. They play the piano and sing a program of classical and popular music, and were called back several times on Monday night.

Jess and Milt Feiler follow with some clever song numbers. Both boys play the piano and act as accompanists for each other. Good voices and excellent selections put the act over in a great shape.

Other acts are Tyler and Crollin in a comedy singing and talking act, and the Loew's Grand acrobats, with a lot of comedy.

this picture portrayal of John Golden's stage success.

"Queen of Sheba."
(At Forsyth Theatre).

In keeping with all the accounts and traditions of splendor and magnificence attending the arrival of the Queen of Sheba at the court of King Solomon, more than three thousand years ago, is the spectacular photoplay, "Queen of Sheba," which opened at the Forsyth theatre last night.

As a stupendous spectacle, "Queen of Sheba" is unsurpassed. As a photoplay, presenting a great love story, with the utmost of appeal, it is a dramatic triumph.

HOME BUILDING BOOM
IS SEEN BY HOOVER

Washington, March 6.—Home building throughout the nation during the last three months "exceeded in volume the activities for the same months in any year since 1919," according to Secretary of Commerce.

Addressing the National Association of Real Estate Boards in convention here, Hoover declared, however, that building, while accelerated, had not yet reached a point sufficient to meet the lamentable lack of housing.

"I have a feeling," he said, "that local communities can solve the problem of the building situation. Efficiency of labor, costs of material and other factors enter into construction work necessarily vary in each section."

"It is the province of real estate men, through such organizations as your local boards and your national association of boards, to stimulate community activity and build up your section. I have found that you are actually doing this work at the present time, and you are to be congratulated for it."

Hoover pointed out that his department has a special committee engaged in the revision of municipal building codes.

"This committee," he said, "in some instances has found that builders are bearing unnecessary burdens by such codes amounting to from 10 to 100 per cent added cost. The committee, the secretary stated, hopes to compile some sound basis on which cities of the country generally can revise their codes."

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW BETTERMENT IN ALL BUSINESS

Washington, March 6.—Continued improvement in business conditions is reflected by postal receipts for February, according to Postmaster General Wray.

Receipts for February were $20,539,220, and for February, 1931, were $19,147,000, an increase of 6.41 per cent, and the largest February record.

This estimate, made up from returns submitted by fifty selected post offices, shows a consistent increase for each office.

Two Men Are Jailed
Charged With Having
19 Gallons of Booze

Two young men, two new touring cars, and 18 gallons of moonshine whiskey were taken into custody last Monday afternoon on the Peachtree road near Oglethorpe university by police officers.

Roy Howell and Grice McEvoy, the two men, were charged with violation of the prohibition law. In default of bond they were locked in the town jail, and their whiskey are in possession of the police.

They were taken to the police station by Officers Webb, Butler and Stovall after an exciting chase in an automobile, from Buckhead to Oglethorpe university.

ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN
ARRESTED BY POLICE

Charles Smith, 25, of Allen alley, was arrested Monday night by Officer H. H. Lewis on suspicion in connection with several recent robberies reported to police. He is being held without bond at the police station, pending investigation of the charges.

James Chotuska, a winner stand proprietor, of Peachtree street, was released in bond of $500 for his appearance before Recorder Johnson Tuesday morning on charges of violating the prohibition law. He was arrested by Officers Cody and Bulard, who allege a small quantity of whiskey was found in Chotuska's possession.

P. K. Bennett, of 539 Simpson street, was taken into custody by Officers Pittman and Niles, on a charge of violating prohibition law. Officers claim to have removed a bottle of whiskey from his pockets.

MANAGER OF ATLANTA BECOMES GRANDFATHER

Lewis Hass, manager of the Atlanta theatre, was married last night despite the fact that a driving rain was keeping hundreds of people away from his show house.

He had just received a telegram that a boy had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gould of New York. Mrs. Gould was Miss Carrie Lewis Hass.

That means that Lewis Hass is a grandfather.

continued throughout the evening 200 people assembled within the Temple to hear Dr. B. A. Tintner, city chaplain of New York, and Rabbi David B. Marx, of the suffering and the 300,000 Jewish orphans, and the 300,000 Jewish orphans in eastern and central Europe. Following his appeal, practically everyone in the audience gave and gave large sums to relieve that suffering.

All join hands.

Rabbi David B. Marx continued the appeal. He pointed out the work that had been done and the work that must be done if the people of America are going to be true to the people in distress as they have always been.

"If any one cannot or will not give who is here tonight he certainly needs a collection taken up for him," said Rabbi Marx. "Some of us have lost money in the recent waves of depression. But those orphans and those refugees have lost all and it is a mystery how they have even managed

Bright and Catchy Show Presented in "Angel Face"

On the meanest, most miserable, dirtiest nights of the year, Atlanta saw the brightest, catchiest, cleanest musical comedy of the same period when "Angel Face" opened for a week's stay at the Atlanta theatre.

Provided that all Atlanta was not drowned or sent to bed with pneumonia Monday night, the attendance for the week would be record-breaking for the show life of the type that Atlanta has craved for.

Not a star in the cast; just a lot of hard-working, capable, good-looking, and charming actors and actresses, people gathered together to sing real music, enact comedy situations, and trip about merrily in costumes that are colorful and not too overbrilliant—that's about the type of "Angel Face."

The program declares the music to be the work of Victor Herbert, and three Herberts are separately "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While" running hauntingly through the three acts, but there are lots of interpolated numbers of the school that the day demands. However, they are adroitly worked in and there is no serious clash between the two, as Herbert has written this time in his very lightest vein.

The production is notable in the number of principals. They easily outnumber the chorus, though the chorus makes up in sprightliness what it may lack in quantity. The girls are distressingly young, distressing to the eyes of the older set, but they are the footlights, notably one little dickens with black bobbed hair.

Not the least of attractive features was the augmented orchestra. The only unattractive feature was the fact that the audience had to go home in a rain that not even Noah would have appreciated.

FUZZY WOODRUFF.

Brilliant Concert Given In Tribute to Caruso

A great, big, beautiful concert, well worthy in dignity to be a memorial to the greatest singer, certainly, of the present generation—that was the character of the concert presented last night at the Auditorium.

It was a tribute to the great tenor, W. L. Peel and C. B. Bidwell, Atlanta representatives on the national board, were in charge, and a noteworthy group of Atlanta musicians and musicians took part.

The performance was of even excellence, with incidents of outstanding brilliance. The first number, "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While," might be called two great moments.

One was when the house was darkened and a victrola, with Caruso's singing, sang "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While," from the great tenor himself, only a little less magnificent in a presentation of "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While," than when the singer himself sang it.

Charles A. Sheldon, Jr., supplied a substantial part of the success of the evening. His singing of "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While," was a masterpiece of the genre, and the intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana, to both of which he gave the full orchestral significance of the full organ, and then, in his accompaniment, notably his subdued and graceful obbligato to the record of the Caruso.

Miss Edna Bartholomew provided the beautiful and beautiful accompaniments at the piano.

One of the happiest impressions of the evening was that made by the singing of "I Might Be Your Once-in-a-While," by their director, Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, in a solo and chorus from Rossini's "Semiramide," the fresh, sweet, and clear voice of the young soprano, Mrs. Townsend, was a brilliant voice of the orchestra, Mr. Leide conducting.

A solo by "La Solenne," as played by the orchestra, revealed its capacity in music of the lighter type, and Dave Love, as conductor, directed a most pleasing dance number by a trio of pupils of Mrs. W. C. Spiker, a classic dance with scarfs, made successful by the grace and the sense of rhythm and harmony.

The extremely bad weather cut down the size of the audience, but failed to mar the performance. The heavy rain and were well rewarded.

LOUISE DOOLY.

to exist so long in their destitute condition.

"All I ask of you is to give to some of the victims of the great war that has enriched America. It is not money, but it is the only thing that most of us have lost sight of human suffering. We cannot comprehend it, which is all the greater reason we should give it."

Be Proud of Task.

"It is a task of which we should be proud that we have assumed the motherhood of these 300,000 orphans. If we do not give thousands will perish, and the world will be a sadder and a poorer place."

The response was instant. Subscriptions of thousands of dollars were made. Then followed subscriptions of hundreds of dollars, and many of them were made. Then came subscriptions of $5, $25 and $50, and continued until the sum of $35,720 was reached.

Originally it was intended to carry on the campaign in the middle part of February, but the leaders decided to delay the drive until the new campaign was entirely over, in order to interfere with the success of another campaign for the alleviation of suffering.

Four Brokerage Concerns Fail In Street Drive

New York, March 6.—Selling of some promiscuous and professional character as well as that accompanied last Saturday's reaction on the stock exchange occurred again today during the first half of the session.
The latter period witnessed a sharp rise in prices following the announcement of a judicial decision favoring one of the local utilities. The ruling of the United States supreme court declaring the Consolidated Gas company 80-cent rate confiscatory, imparted a buoyant tone to that stock, which closed at a net gain of 7 1-2 points, Brooklyn Union was advancing 11 points. Other shares throughout the general list recovered the greater part of their severe reversals of the morning. The independent steel mills, however, some of the foreign oils and numerous miscellaneous specialties were noteworthy exceptions reflecting constant pressure.
The liquidation of the morning was heightened by bearish sentiment created by market opinions spread broadcast by commentators regarding the situation. These references to uncertain technical conditions and the failure of the public to respond to more favorable commercial and industrial developments.
In many centers were credited with much of initial liquidation, although advances from western and southwestern sections were hopeful. There were no large volume movements except additional advances in prices of farm commodities.
The money market was not disturbed by late week deficit clearing house reserves. On the exchange call money opened and ruled at 4 1-2 per cent until just before the finish, when it advanced to 5 percent.
A firmer tone was shown by the leading foreign exchanges as the critical

New York, March 6.—Four new brokerage failures and the surrender of Joseph D. Surman, the first of 41 brokers indicted by grand juries since the investigation of bucketshops began two months ago, marked Monday close in the Wall street clean-up.

Release of Sugarman under the bond program expected to induce others to give themselves up. Only ten of those indicted have surrendered or been arrested thus far, due to inability to raise the $50,000 bond required by the court.

Sugarman was indicted on complaint of E. C. Barringer, of Texas, who had deposited his account with the broker 100 shares of Texas Oil stock which Sugarman failed to return.

Bankruptcy petitions were against Ettinge & Wall, I. B. Mullins & Co., and Alfred E. Lindsay.

Two other bankruptcies in a Pittsburgh house with membership on the Consolidated Stock exchange. Liabilities were placed at $55,000 with assets valued at $25,000.

James H. Dewanan compose the firm of I. B. Mullins & Co., whose liabilities and assets were not stated.

Alfred E. Lindsay, secretary, was signed by Mrs. Lillian N. Duke.

Mrs. C. Dorothy Atwood and Mrs. Sarah E. Arnold, who had received $200,000 each of sums from $20,000 to $300,000 each.

Later in the afternoon another two-volume bankruptcy petition was filed by creditors of the Ensmore-Barcoe company, stockbrokers. The petitioners allege that the company owes them about $100,000 and its assets $400,000.

The full amount of any prize tied for will be paid to each tied participant.

Observe These Rules

1. The puzzle game is open to any man, woman, girl or boy, except winners of any previous Constitution Puzzle game, employees, or relatives of employees, of The Atlanta Constitution. It costs nothing to take part in the game.
2. Answers must be written on one side of the paper only. You must also number each word consecutively, 1, 2, 3, etc. Do not write more than one "B-Word" with each number. Write your complete name and address on each page in the upper right-hand corner. Use a separate sheet to write anything else.
3. Only English words found in the English dictionary will be accepted. Obsolete words will be considered incorrect. Either the singular or plural of a word may be used, but not both. Compound and hyphenated words cannot be used.
4. "B-Words" of the same spelling will be counted only once, even though used in naming different objects. You can name each object only once; however, you may also name any visible part of an object.
5. All lists of words must be mailed by March 25, 1932.
6. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of words beginning with "B" appearing in the picture will win first prize, etc. Neatness, style and handwriting will not have any bearing in deciding the winner.
7. Each answer received will be equally considered regardless of whether it is accompanied by subscriptions or not.
8. "B-Word" participants may work together in answering the puzzle; however, only one prize will be awarded to any one household. Prizes will not be awarded to more than one of any number of people outside of the family, whose several have worked together.
9. The full amount of any prize tied for will be paid to each tied participant.
10. The winners will be decided right after the close of the game, by three judges having no connection with The Constitution, and participants entering the game agree to accept their decisions as final and conclusive.
11. The names of the prize winners and the correct list of "B-Words" will be published in The Constitution just as soon after the close of the game as possible.

FIGHT FOR TREATY RATIFICATION ON

BY JAMES A. HOLLANDON.
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, March 6.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—The administration today began a systematic strategic fight for the ratification by the senate of the four-power pact, with encouraging assurances of ultimate success. Not only will Secretary Hughes be permitted to explain the evolution of the pact to private audiences of those republican senators who have been regarded as approaching the final vote with open minds, but an effort will be made to appease the outspoken opponents, other than the irreconcilables of both parties, by pointing out the consequences of rejection.

It will be contended, and reasonably so, that a failure to ratify this treaty will instantly and automatically revive the Anglo-Japanese military alliance, which is regarded by the United States as a serious and threatening menace. It will also be contended with equal reasonableness, that there can be no hope of an international naval holiday, as certainly no hope of limiting naval armament by the United States, if England and Japan are allowed under an alliance agreement to pool their naval strength in event of war.

Democrats who voted for the treaty of Versailles will in the meantime be held to a strict accountability as to consistency, particularly in view of the potent fact that the only hope of defeating ratification will be a coalition of democratic and irreconcilable republican votes.

There is no mistake that the situation as it stands at this hour is favorable to the defeat of ratification by reason of the unexplainable attitude of so many democrats who profess to be dissatisfied with the pact. As most of these democratic members, independent of the democratic irreconcilables whose consistency now can not be challenged, are basing their positions upon the alleged secrecy attending the framing of the treaty, it is believed that if this point is clarified the final vote for ratification will show the required 65 votes.

SEEK LENIENCY FOR GEORGIAN, CONFESSED THIEF

BY JAMES A. HOLLANDON.
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, March 6.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—Powerful Georgia influences are being brought to bear for Walter R. Branham, who has just entered a plea of guilty to a charge of highway robbery.

Young Branham is a son of a well-known Methodist minister, of Oxford, and is a nephew of Henry Brannan, who is prominently connected with the Georgia state department of agriculture.

Three weeks ago the accused held up the manager of a chain store here and, at the point of pistol, the victim handed over a package of money amounting to something over $1,000.

Branham made no attempt to disguise, although he was known by his victim, with whom he had previously worked.

The holdup took place on a prominent downtown corner, early in the evening, and in the presence of several pedestrians who did not know of the alleged crime, so quietly was it executed.

Branham walked to a leading hotel only two blocks away, registered in his own name and was arrested in his room within the hour.

No unusual were the entire proceedings, from a criminal viewpoint, that a great many people who did not know either Branham or his victim, interested themselves in his case, it being generally established that Branham had been, in a measure, made irresponsible by drinking a quality of "Potomac bootleg" that has killed no few and driven others temporarily insane.

Major Gordon, United States attorney, after looking carefully into the young Georgian's past history, consented to have the chief justice today refer the case to the probation officer for investigation, which investigation will be rigidly conducted before sentence is imposed.
